GOOD NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

By Shirley W. Walton

TOMATOES

Look for tomatoes which are well formed, smooth, well ripened, and reasonably free from blemishes.

Avoid overripe and bruised tomatoes, tomatoes with sunburn (green or yellow areas near the stem scar) and growth cracks (deep cracks around the stem scar). Avoid decayed tomatoes which will have soft, water-soaked spots, depressed areas, or surface mold.

A bushel of tomatoes weighs about 53 pounds and will yield approximately 18 quarts of canned tomatoes.

CANNING TOMATOES

Wash tomatoes. Loosen skins by dipping tomatoes into boiling water for about ½ minute; then into cold water. Skins should slip off easily. Remove stem scar and core. Leave tomatoes whole or cut into halves or quarters.

RAW PACK - Pack tomatoes to ½ inch of top pressing gently to fill spaces. Tomatoes will make their own juice. Do not add water as it dilutes the flavor. Add ½ teaspoon salt to pint jars; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Remove air bubbles by running spatula or knife between jar and food. Adjust jar lids.

Process in boiling water bath canner (212°F.).

Pint jars - 35 minutes
Quart jars - 45 minutes

HOT PACK Bring tomatoes to a boil; stir to keep from sticking. Pack boiling hot tomatoes in jars leaving ½-inch headspace. Add ½ teaspoon salt to pint jars; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Remove air bubbles by running spatula or knife between jar and food. Adjust jar lids.

Process in boiling water bath canner (212°F.).

Pint jars - 10 minutes
Quart jars - 10 minutes

CANNING TOMATO JUICE

Wash tomatoes, remove stem scar and core, and cut into pieces. Simmer until softened; stir frequently to keep from sticking. Run through food mill, colander, or strainer. Add 1 teaspoon salt for each quart of juice. Pring juice to a boil.

Pour boiling hot juice into jars leaving ½-inch headspace. Adjust jar lids.

Process in boiling water bath canner (212°F.).

Pint jars - 10 minutes
Quart jars - 10 minutes

Tomatoes have always been classified as an acid food which can be safely processed in a boiling water bath canner. Some newer varieties of tomatoes are less acid and there is some question as to whether they are sufficiently acid to prevent bacterial growth. Some authorities have recommended adding small amounts of acid (½ teaspoon lemon juice or ¼ teaspoon citric acid per pint) to increase the acidity. A small amount of granulated sugar may be added to offset the tarter flavor.

FREEZING TOMATOES

It's still not possible to freeze fresh whole tomatoes for fresh use. Freezing and subsequent thawing cause loss of the characteristic texture of the fresh tomato. Stewed tomatoes and tomato juice can be frozen satisfactorily.

To freeze stewed tomatoes, wash, remove stem scar and core, and halve or quarter. Cover and cook until tender, about 10 to 20 minutes. Set pan containing tomatoes in cold water to cool or pack tomatoes into containers and set the filled containers in cold water. Leave ½ to 1½ inches headspace -- the smaller amount for wide topped pint containers; the larger amount for narrow topped quart containers.

Seal. Freeze at 0°F or below.

To freeze tomato juice, prepare juice as for canning. Add 1 teaspoon salt for each quart juice. Pour into containers leaving headspace as above. Seal. Freeze; store at 0°F or below.

The amount of salt used adds flavor but may be omitted.

"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

More than 60 members of Appomattox Cattlemen's Association and their families met at Knoll Crest Farm on July 10 for a cookout and tour of the farm's herd. James Bennett, owner of Knoll Crest, said that they had been performance testing for 15 years. During the first six years the average weaning weight was increased 103 pounds.

Weighing calves at weaning and developing a ratio for each herd is the basis for marked improvement of a beef herd. Ten members at the conclusion of the meeting indicated that they would like to jointly purchase a set of portable scales.

* * *

There will be a Johnsongrass Tour Friday, August 13, from 1 to 5 in Buckingham County. If you are interested in seeing some control program being used, please let me know. We have been invited to bring five or six Appomattox farmers who have a concern about Johnsongrass.

* * *

Work done in Nebraska on 1100 calves shows that the birth weight of beef calves can be determined without scales, the method is not 100% accurate but is usually within five pounds of the actual birth weight and it's better than guessing.

Here's how: with the calf standing, pass a measuring tape around its body just behind the forelegs. Pull the tape snug but not tight and take a measurement. Then take a second measurement to be sure the tape wasn't twisted and that the calf was not in an unusual position. Convert the measurement by multiplying the heartgirth in inches by 4.54 and subtracting 58.

* * *

Gomer bulls are often used for heat detection when artificial breeding is practiced. Researchers at Clay Center Nebraska have determined that a Gomer bull equiped with a Cin-ball marker will be 95 to 100% effective when the ratio is 30 cows to 1 bull.

* * *

Over the past 12 months the biggest development in the cigarette industry has been low-tar, low-nicotine cigarettes, which have been heavily promoted. They have gained 12% of the domestic market.

Cigarettes with less than 15 milligrams of tar per cigarette fall into this group. There are at least 30 different brands in this category.

* * *

Price supports for fire cured tobacco will be 74.1c, flue-cured 106.0c and burley 109.2c.

* * *

There is a new herbicide on the market and is a valuable tool for controlling Johnsongrass. Roundup will provide best control when treatment is made at late stages of growth but prior to seedhead emergence. There is no soil sterility from its use, but it can severly damage galvanized spray equipment. If seedhead has formed cut and spray when grass reaches 8 to 10 inches high.

We need more participation in the Dark Fired Tobacco Recognition Program. As of Monday there were only 20 signed up.

The Dark Fired Tobacco Commission has doubled the amount of money for the program this year. Please get your form completed and entered this week.

We said last week that "organize" was a key word for a manager. The manager who can organize is where all the resources available -- people, money, land and special talents -- are put together to achieve the goals established in the plan. Organization means having a day-to-day and week-to-week operating plan.

Next week we'll look at the key word, "Direct."

Appomattox 4-H'er Is State's "4-H Top Pork Producer"

Glen Clowdis of Red House, an Appomattox 4-H member, has been selected as Virginia's 4-H Top Pork Producer for the period July 1975 - June 1976. Glen, who is 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Clowdis.

The 4-H Top Pork Producer is selected from 4-H'ers conducting swine projects across the state. Glen's record for his 1975 4-H Market Hog was selected as the first place state winner. This honor earns Glen a $75.00 Purchase Certificate to be applied toward the purchase of a purebred animal at any sale sponsored by the Virginia Purebred Swine Breeders Association. In addition to the purchase certificate, Glen has received blue ribbons as county, district and state winner in the program. Awards for the 4-H Top Pork Producer are provided by the Virginia Purebred Swine Breeders Association.

Glen plays a large role in helping with the management and record keeping of the family's swine herd. In addition to carrying a 4-H Market Hog Project, Glen raises feeder pigs which are sold through the South Central Feeder Pig Association at Farmville. The herd also includes registered Yorkshires and registered Durocs which are used in purebred and crossbred breeding programs.

Under construction on the Clowdis Farm is a combination farrowing house and nursery building. The new facility which should be in operation by early fall will demand much of Glen's time as he progresses in his swine projects.

Glen and his dad, Bill, are assisted in their hog operation by Roosevelt Pennix, also of Red House.
